THE MEN BEHIND THE JETS

The New York Jets underwent a change in officers this spring when four of the owners purchased all of the shares held by resigning president, Sonny Werblin. Donald Lillis, former Chairman of the Board, has taken over as President and Chief Executive Officer and will direct the Jets' operations in close association with fellow officers, Townsend Martin, Phil Iselin and Leon Hess.

The "Men Behind the Jets" are an energetic group who formed a syndicate in 1963 to purchase the then-bankrupt New York American Football League franchise.

The owners bought the club at a time when no one else would take a gamble on the New York franchise and struck out boldly to create a fresh and exciting image. They have turned a "loser" into a "winner" and have made the Jets one of the most formidable operations in professional sports.

Keeping their promise to "bring the best available collegiate talent to New York City," the Jets owners have signed such leading pro stars as Joe Namath and Matt Snell, back-to-back "Rookie of the Year" winners; Emerson Boozer, George Sauer, Jr. and Gerry Philbin, to name a few.

The Jet owners have set their sights on bringing a championship to the fans of New York. Who'll say there won't be a championship flag flying from Shea Stadium in 1968?

DONALD C. LILLIS, President and Chief Executive Officer, is a limited partner of Bear, Stearns & Company, members of the New York Stock Exchange. He also serves as director of nine corporations. Lillis was formerly president of Bowie Race Course and introduced winter meetings to Bowie.

TOWNSEND B. MARTIN, Chairman of the Board, is an internationally-known owner and breeder of thoroughbred race horses and is also engaged in the banking business in New York. An original backer of the Monmouth Park Jockey Club in 1946, Martin now has stables in Ireland as well as the United States. He has great interest in hunting and fishing in addition to horse racing and pro football. He is also a director of the New Jersey National Bank and Trust Company.

PHILIP H. ISELIN, Vice President and Treasurer, is the president of the Korell Company and has an extensive background in thoroughbred racing. The dapper Iselin is President and Chairman of the Board of the Monmouth Park Jockey Club. Ranking as one of the most popular and respected members of the racing fraternity, Iselin lives in Oceanport, N.J., the site of Monmouth Park. Iselin is a director of the New Jersey National Bank and Trust Company.

LEON HESS, Secretary, is a native of Asbury Park, N.J. Hess entered the oil business at an early age and is now a director, president and chief executive officer of the Hess Oil & Chemical Corporation of Perth Amboy, N.J. He also serves as a director of the Monmouth Park Jockey Club and of the New Jersey National Bank and Trust Company.

WEEB EWBANK

Head Coach and General Manager

When the Jets' management took over the New York operation in the AFL in 1963 it moved swiftly to acquire Weeb Ewbank as head coach and general manager. He in turn has moved ahead to build a championship calibre club.

To say that he has thrived on challenges is an understatement, and only injuries prevented the Jets from winning the Eastern Division title last season.

Prior to joining the Jets, Ewbank was successful in all of his assignments, and in New York, while the title has not been achieved yet, several standout players, necessary for the final goal, have been developed.

Matt Snell and Joe Namath, Rookies of the Year in 1964 and '65, respectively, head the list. Then there are such standouts as Emerson Boozer, Gerry Philbin and George Sauer, Jr.

Weeb began his career as an assistant at his alma mater, Miami University (Ohio), and spent 14 seasons there. In 1943 he joined Paul Brown at the Great Lakes Naval Training Station as an assistant. At the end of the war, Weeb became backfield coach at Brown University and head basketball coach. After one season there, he moved on to Washington University in St. Louis as head football coach. In two seasons he brought the Maroons their finest record in 30 years as they lost only once in 10 starts.

In 1949, Ewbank rejoined Paul Brown and the Cleveland Browns serving as line coach. During the next four years, the Browns dominated pro football winning the All-America Conference title then taking the NFL championship in 1950 and Eastern Division pennants in 1951-52-53.

Ewbank publicly exhibited his brilliant managerial talents when he moved to Baltimore in 1954. He took a team that was beset with disorganization, and within six years produced two NFL championships. Among the many stars developed by Ewbank at Baltimore were Johnny Unitas, Alan Ameche, Raymond Berry, Lenny Moore, Gino Marchetti, Arthur Donovan, Bill Pellington, Jim Parker and Big Daddy Lipscomb.

Several players and assistants who were under Weeb have entered the coaching ranks such as Don Shula, John Sandusky, Lou Rymkus, Art Spinney, Carl Taseff, John Bridges, Bob Shaw and Chuck Knox.

One of Weeb's former players at Washington, Charlie Winner, later became not only an assistant to him at Baltimore, but also his son-in-law. Charlie is now head coach of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Weeb was a quarterback at Miami and was captain of the baseball team and a member of the basketball team.

A native of Richmond, Ind., Weeb married the "girl next door," the former Lucy Massey, also from Richmond. They have three girls all married with families.

SHEA STADIUM

Home of the Jets

Located in the geographical and population center of New York City at Flushing Meadows, Queens, William A. Shea Stadium is the home of the New York Jets.

Easily reached by car, bus, I.R.T. subway, taxi, Long Island Railroad, plane and boat, Shea Stadium has 45 acres of parking field — one of the most spacious parking accommodations in the nation.

Vehicular traffic utilizes a new $111 million complex of widened parkways. The I.R.T. Flushing line runs directly to the Willets Point station where a convenient overpass leads into Stadium entrances. The Long Island Railroad station is within easy walking distance as is the enlarged Flushing Bay Marina. Both Kennedy International and LaGuardia airports are just minutes away by taxi.

There are 60,000 seats for Jet football games — all totally unobstructed by columns or posts. Every seat has a clear view of the playing field. An ingenious system of seat rotation permits 10,000 seats to be moved electrically to positions which parallel the side lines of the football field. Over 19,000 seats are located on ground level and slope upwards for unexcelled viewing. Some 14,000 seats are on the second tier while 20,000 more are located in the third tier. There are over 20,000 box seats and an additional 5,000 temporary seats.

All seat levels can be easily reached by escalators and elevators. Upper level seats are reached by 21 runs of escalators in seven banks as well as two elevators. Escalators have a carrying capacity of 56,000 persons per hour. Seats may also be reached by 24 wide and gradually-sloped ramps.

Shea Stadium has one of the nation's most modern lighting systems with lights running in continuous strips around the cantilevered roof, eliminating all towers except for two banks beyond the end zone.

There are 54 public rest room installations located on all three levels. Each of the 27 women's rooms has its own lounge or powder room.

Evenly-spaced concession stands for light snacks and soft drinks are grouped around aisles at each level to make vertical travel unnecessary. For leisurely dining, there is an attractive main dining room.

In 1964, 1965, 1966 and again last year, the Jets established AFL attendance records at Shea Stadium. An average crowd of 62,433 watched the Jets in action last year. This topped the previous AFL high of 59,396 set by the Jets in 1966. The Jets also hold the record for the largest crowd to ever witness an AFL game—63,497—which watched the Jets host the San Diego Chargers on Oct. 8, 1966. That same crowd figure of 63,497 is the largest to ever attend an event at Shea Stadium. More attendance records are certain to fall at Shea Stadium during the 1968 season.
